

IGPC Features Five Equids—and a Bird

Late last year the Inter-Governmental Philatelic Corp. orchestrated a series of issues for some of its client postal administrations on the subject of “equids”—in this case, Horses, Zebra, Donkeys and Wild Jackasses.

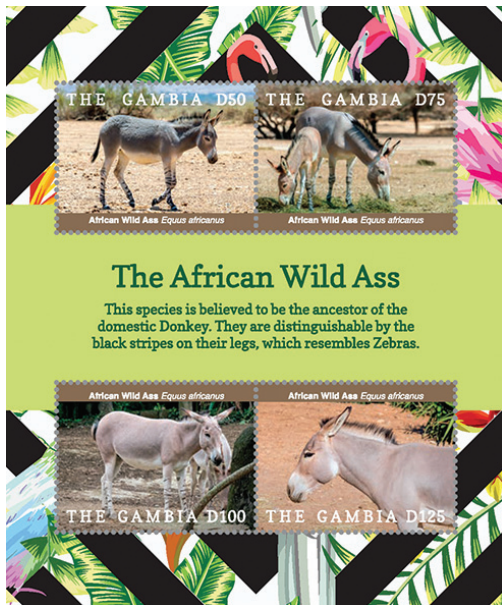

Liberia featured Zebra.

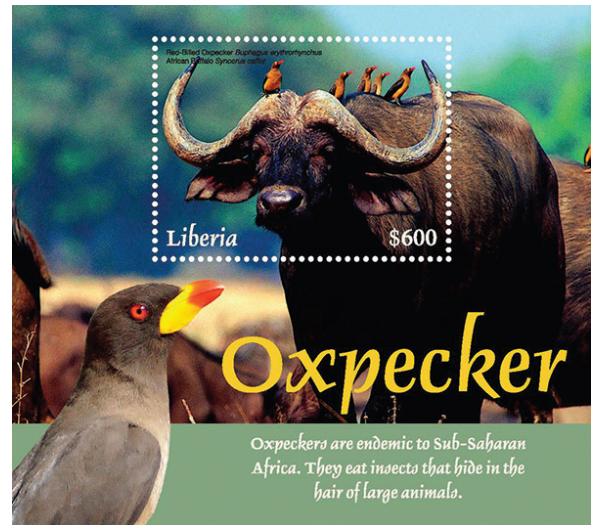

Grenada pictured Donkeys and Horses.

Interestingly, there was another member of the family of which horses are the most popular part—the Ox; however, the stated subject of the issue is those little birds—oxpeckers—neatly perched on the huge animal. On the souvenir sheet from Liberia, they are seen lounging, rather than performing their productive task of eating ticks, small insects, and other parasites on the ox.

The Gambia opted for the African Wild Ass.

For details on these and other topical worldwide issues, please go to the IGPC website, www.igpc.com or return to the IGPC section on our www.stampnewsnow.com website.